

Graduate essentials: How to launch your career

- You've worked extremely hard to get where you are today. How will you ensure your career takes off in the right direction?

Join us for this half-day session in which our expert Jennifer Reischel will give you essential advice on handling life as a graduate and exclusively reveal the results of a recent survey of top industry professionals.

5 key topics

What are you selling?

Get real about your prospects, the current state of the industry and the promotional tools you'll need.

Agents

Find out what agents really want, how to get represented and how to handle the relationship.

Castings

Discover what a casting director looks for plus practical tips to approach them.

In between jobs

Learn how to support yourself with ideas on sources of temporary work.

Finances

Manage your income with tips on spending and saving.

Jennifer Reischel

The expert

Jennifer Reischel is a professional performer, the author of 'So you want to tread the boards' and a reviewer of student showcases. To find out more about Jennifer visit thestage.co.uk/events/expert

Is this session for you?

This session is for students of performance about to leave college, drama school or university to enter the industry and professional performers with up to two years' experience.

- Thursday, June 21, 10.30am – 1.30pm,
Prince of Wales Theatre

To book or for more information visit thestage.co.uk/events

THE STAGE EVENTS

Nonhlanhla Kheswa and William Ndyalam in The Suit, which runs at Young Vic Theatre from May 21 until June 16

THE STAGE EVENTS

The Stage Events' expert Jennifer Reischel

Performer and author Jennifer Reischel leads the next career development session from The Stage Events, 'Graduate essentials: how to launch your career'.

Jennifer trained in musical theatre performance at Mountview Academy before writing her industry guide So You Want to Tread the Boardss and joining The Stage's student showcase review team.

Jennifer's session will help performers make sure their careers take off in the right direction as they enter the profession. Of leaving drama school, Jennifer observes, "You feel like you're being dropped into a great pool of unknown circumstances and situations – training can only prepare you in certain ways."

As a student showcase reviewer, conversations with industry professionals have given her "a unique insight into the profession's general view on new graduates and most of all, how graduates are most likely to make an impression on those key figures in a difficult job market".

During the half-day event, Jennifer will cover five key aspects of graduate life and exclusively reveal the results of a survey conducted among industry professionals.

The Stage Events will be giving attendees at the Spotlight Student Ball, which takes place on June 3 at the glamorous Café de Paris in London, the chance to win a ticket for Jennifer's session. The ball brings together students from the nation's most illustrious drama schools invited to celebrate the end of another year in training and to raise a glass to the departing graduates. Tickets are on sale now at pretty-pig.co.uk priced £24.

Forthcoming events include:

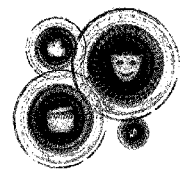

Graduate essentials: how to launch your career

Jennifer Reischel, Prince of Wales Theatre, London, June 21, 10.30am-1.30pm

Master your musical theatre audition

Danielle Tarento, Prince of Wales Theatre, London, July 17, 1-4pm

To book tickets and see the full calendar of events visit thestage.co.uk/events

Sign-up to our newsletter for special offers and the latest news at thestage.co.uk/events

TheStageEvents

thestageevents.wordpress.com

@TheStageEvents